Garden Notes

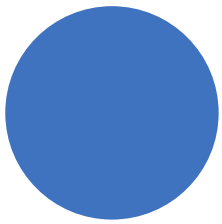
Tomatoes like sun, and plenty of it.

Water early in the morning, before the heat.

Basil grows faster on a warm windowsill.

Mulch keeps the soil damp and the weeds down.

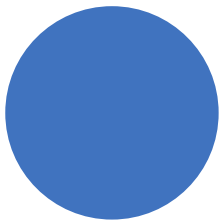
Check the rain gauge every morning before breakfast.



Chapter Two: Soil

Good soil holds water without turning to mud.

Compost is ready when it smells like a forest floor.

Turn the beds in spring, not in winter.


Always label your seed packets with the date.
